

Read the paragraph and answer the following question.

Landscaping generally accounts for the major use of household water. Less than 1% of the water on earth is available for people's everyday use. Leaky Toilet In the average household, wastes the most water. A water-efficient irrigation system may include Drip irrigation, Rainwater harvesting, Moisture sensor, features. Easily corrected household water leaks account for 8 % of the water bill.

Question 1: Which one of the following generally accounts for the major use of household water?

Question 2: How much of the water on earth is available for people's everyday use?

Question 3: In the average household, which of the following wastes the most water?

Question 4: A water-efficient irrigation system may include which features?

Question5: Easily corrected household water leaks account for what % of the water bill?